Webinar on

“ Introduction to AWS and it's career opportunities in IT industry”

Date: 26-12-2021

Introduction

This online webinar is conducted for all BCA (SCIENCE) students and it is presented by Mr. Krupal Jagtap sir. They selected the topic “Introduction to AWS and it's career opportunities in IT industry” for webinar. The purpose of this webinar was to introduced about AWS in depth and how to switch to AWS platform for job perspective. This activity is taken on an online platform on Microsoft team's software.

Procedure

This webinar was held on 26- December -2021 at 11:30 am. All student participated actively. Total 143 students participated in this activity. At the starting of the program the Prajal Dethe from TYBCA(sci) welcomed the audience and then she introduced the guest Mr. Krupal Jagtap sir. Then sir started his presentation with slide. They represented concept and future about AWS . They presented their slides one by one and also they told some aspects related AWS. The goal of this presentation is to understand “career opportunities in IT industry for AWS” . After the powerpoint presentation they had a Question answer session in that session audience also participated initiatively. After Question answer session Dr Archana BHise mam took feedback for the activity followed by Anusha Byahatti from TYBCA(sci) gave the Vote of thanks.

Conclusion

From this Online Webinar students improved their Knowledge about cloud computing ,AWS. This activity helps students to find out job opportunities for AWS in IT industry

aws

A deep-dive - Why Cloud?

What works?

- No capital investment in hardware
- No need for managing the hardware
- Still accessible from anywhere
- No risk of data loss due to any calamity (like fire) due to multiple back up
- Pay per use and stop anytime

What are the Challenges?

- Data privacy may be compromised (depends on type of cloud)
- Compliance and cross-border data storage issues
- Elaborate Access control is required (with type of communication channel with cloud)
- Enterprise paradigm shift needed (e.g. DevOps)

Microsoft Teams interface showing a slide titled "IaaS - Gartner Quadrant Description".

Challengers
Well-positioned to serve current market needs. Deliver a good service targeted at a particular set of use cases & have a track record of successful delivery. However, they are not adapting to market challenges sufficiently quickly, or do not have a broad scope of ambition.

Leaders
Leaders distinguish themselves by offering a service suitable for strategic adoption & having an ambitious roadmap. Leaders in this market have appreciable market share and many referenceable customers. Can serve a broad range of use cases, although they do not excel in all areas, may not necessarily be the best providers for a specific need and may not serve some use cases at all.

Niche Players
For cloud IaaS these may be excellent providers for particular use cases or in regions in which they operate, but they should ultimately be viewed as specialist providers of cloud IaaS. Do not serve a broad range of use cases well or have a broadly ambitious roadmap. Some may have solid leadership positions in markets adjacent to this market, but have developed only limited capabilities in cloud IaaS.

Visionaries
Visionaries have an ambitious vision of the future, and are making significant investments in the development of unique technologies. Their services are still emerging, and they have many capabilities in development that are not yet generally available. Although they may have many customers, they might not yet serve a broad range of use cases well.

Microsoft Teams interface showing a slide titled "Magic Quadrant for Cloud Infrastructure as a Service (2018)".

The Magic Quadrant plot shows the following data points:

- Challengers: Alibaba Cloud, Oracle, IBM
- Leaders: Google
- Niche Players: AWS, Microsoft
- Visionaries: (None explicitly labeled in this quadrant)

Y-axis: Ability to Execute (increasing upwards)
X-axis: Completeness of Vision (increasing rightwards)

Cloud Prediction

- Oracle Prediction
 - Oracle's predictions of Cloud-Native estimates that by 2025, 80% of the IT sector will move to the cloud.
 - <https://www.oracle.com/locom/docs/cloud/oracle-cloud-predictions-2021.pdf>
- Nasscom Research
 - India can become world's second-largest cloud talent hub: Nasscom
 - By 2025, India would have an estimated 1.4-1.5 million cloud professionals (baseline growth).
 - However, with an estimated demand for over 2 million professionals by 2025, India could reach 1.7-1.8 million cloud talent pool with a fairly aggressive skilling roadmap
